FOREWORD

This is the Catalogue of cultural property stolen from Ukrainian state museums, reserves, institutions and private collections.

The first and successful attempt to represent complete information on the cultural property losses over the 14-year period, since 1984 to 1998, was Catalogue of cultural property stolen from museums and cult buildings of Ukraine (1984–1998) accomplished by the National Commission on the Restitution of Cultural Property of Ukraine in cooperation with the State Customs Service of Ukraine. The main purpose of that catalogue was to provide an information for the Ukrainian and global community concerning spiritual treasures of Ukraine stolen by criminals from the state institutions and cult buildings and to coordinate international cooperation aimed at the search for the property and its return to legal owners.

The efforts were not in vain. For example, 16th century icon Entrance into Jerusalem that was listed in the catalogue and had been stolen from the National Museum in Lviv, has been returned to its rightful place, two Western European paintings went back to Poltava Art Museum and so on.

And now we would like to attract your attention to a new edition hoping that it will become one more step to create a complete although sad register of cultural property lost by Ukraine and support the purposeful search for and return of the stolen items.

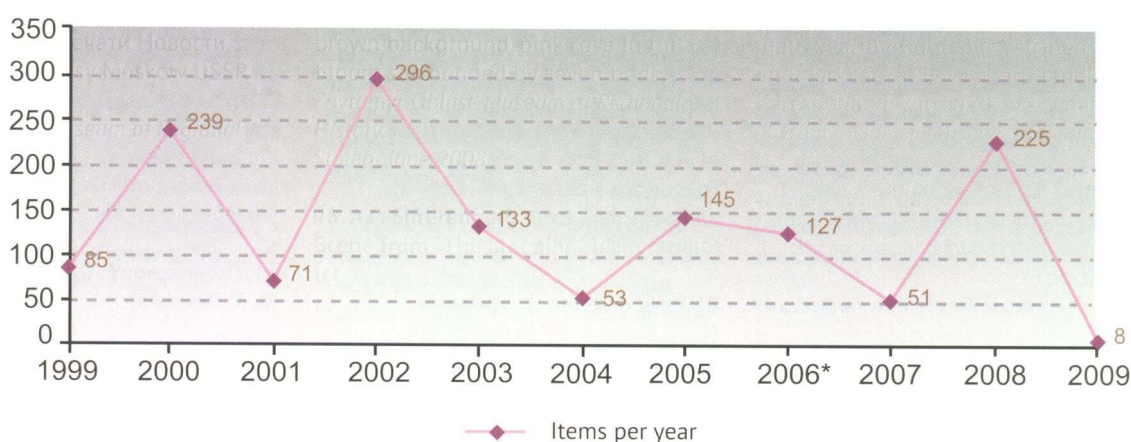

Now law enforcement agencies of many countries have to deal with not only single law-breakers but with well-organised transnational criminal groups specializing in theft, illicit traffic and illegal trade of art works. Unfortunately, Ukrainian criminal circles have managed to dissolve in the international criminal antique business. According to the International Criminal Police Organization (Interpol), only in Western Europe there are more than 40 active organised criminal groups of the former USSR citizens, mostly from the western regions of the former USSR (Ukraine, Russia, Byelorussia, Baltic countries).

According to information provided by the Ministry of Internal Affairs of Ukraine, during the last 10 years more than 3000 antique and art theft crimes have been committed, nearly half of them being detected. The criminals are interested in all kinds of art pieces, but most of all, in faleristics, exonomia, heraldry, visual and applied arts. They also take an interest in items of numismatics and bonistics, arms, printed publications, religious paraphernalia. Archival documents and musical instruments are also the objects of criminal infringements. Regions that remain to be the most vulnerable to criminal infringements of historical and cultural property are Vinnytsia, Transcarpathian, Lviv, and Cherkasy oblasts. The notorious cases of theft from the state museums of Ukraine over the last few years include the thefts of Arrest of Christ, or Judas's Kiss by Michelangelo Merisi da Caravaggio (Odessa Museum of Western and Oriental Arts), Lyutyanka waterfall by Igor Hrubar, Forest by Anton Kashshai, Beech forest by Fedir Manailo, Vorochivska cliff by Yosyp Bokshay (Transcarpathian Oblast Museum of Regional Studies).

While over the period since 1984 to 1999 the art works were stolen from 23 state museums, during the last decade nearly 55 museums were robbed. The most unprotected against the thieves are regional and municipal museums (40 of them), 5 state reserves, 15 collector's private apartments. And although the number of crimes committed annually shows no certain tendency, the problem, unfortunately, still remains actual for Ukraine. To compare two editions, let us notice: while the previous edition of catalogue having covered 15-year statistics numbered 106 items, over the last decade ten times more cultural property items, 1000, were included into the list of stolen property.

* In addition, in 2006 a private collection of Golden Horde coins numbering 5000 items was stolen.

We must admit that it is usual practice of many museums, art galleries, archives and cult buildings to break the rules of accounting, keeping, inventory-making and revision of cultural property, passportization of the exhibits goes on slowly. There are no efficient modern-technology electronic registration systems, photo- and video recording, printed catalogues of cultural property of state museums, archives and libraries, as well as of private collections. That is why we are firmly sure that this catalogue will be interesting and useful for the employees of customs and law enforcement agencies, representatives of the Ukrainian diplomatic missions abroad, art historians, museum workers, collectors, art dealers, and all those who do their best to protect our cultural heritage from the criminals.

Yurii Savchuk,
 Head of the State Service for Control over Transfer of Cultural Valuables across the State Borders of Ukraine, Candidate of Science (history)

THE ORDER OF LENIN

The highest decoration in the USSR. Established by the Resolution of the Presidium of the Central Executive Committee of the USSR from 6 April 1930. The order had several variations. The first type, of 1930-1934, was made of silver. The main elements of the composition of the order: a portrait of V.I. Lenin on the background of chimney-stalks, on the foreground is a tractor. The portrait medallion is flanked by wheat heads. Above the medallion is a hammer and sickle; below are the letters "СССР". On the reverse is the stamp "ГОЗНАК" in relief. A screw fastening. The weight without the nut and screw – 14,97 g. Total weight – 24,57 g. The second and following types were one-piece gold badges bearing a portrait of V.I. Lenin as a superimposed bas-relief inside a circle, above the medallion a flying flag with the inscription "Ленин" ("Lenin"). On the left, on heads of wheat, is a five-point star, below – a hammer and sickle. The flag, star, hammer and sickle and the border around the medallion were covered with ruby-red enamel, the space around the portrait – with silver or with grey enamel (depending on the type). Size: height – 41 mm, width – 38 mm, diameter of the portrait medallion – 25 mm. Total weight – 33,62 g.

THE ORDER “ЗНАК ПОЧЕТА” («BADGE OF HONOUR»).

Established by the Resolution of the CEC of the USSR of 25 November 1935. The order is oval-shaped, flanked by oak branches on both sides. In its centre are figures of two workers, a male and a female, carrying flags that are symmetrically placed on their left and right and bear the inscription “Пролетарии всех стран, соединяйтесь!” (“Proletarians of all the countries, unite!”) In the upper part of the order is a five-point star; below it, on the background of a flag, is a superimposed relief inscription “СССР” (“USSR”). In the lower part of the order is a relief inscription “Знак почета” (“Badge of Honour”). The order was made of silver, the flags and star covered with ruby-red enamel, with gilded outlines. First it had a screw fastening and the size of 28 × 39 mm. In 1936 the size was increased to 36 × 46 mm. In 1943 the fastening was changed to a suspension with an ear and a suspension piece for attaching the order to a pentagonal top bar.

THE ORDER OF ALEXANDER NEVSKY

Established by the Edict of the Presidium of the Supreme Council of the USSR of 29 July 1942. The order was made of silver in the form of a raised five-point star covered with ruby-red enamel on the background of a decagonal plate with diverging polished rays on its surface. The red star has gilt rims. In the middle of the star is a round forged shield with an image of Alexander Nevsky and the inscription around the edge, in relief, “Александр Невский” (“Alexander Nevsky”). The shield is adorned with a gilt laurel wreath. Before 1943 the order was attached with a ring to a rectangular top bar, 20 mm high and 29,5 mm wide, lined with a red moire ribbon. In 1943 the fastening changed to nut and screw, without the top bar, and in 1944 the decoration became a one-piece badge. MEDAL "ЗА ОТВАГУ" ("FOR VALOUR")

Established by the Edict of the Presidium of the Supreme Council of the USSR of 17 October 1938. The medal is made of silver in the form of a circle 37 mm in diameter. In the upper part of the face are images of three planes flying in trail. Below them is an impressed inscription covered with red enamel, in two lines: "За отвагу" ("For Valour"). Below the inscription is a tank, and another red enamelled impressed inscription: "СССР" ("USSR") at the bottom. The medal's ribbon is silk moire, grey with two blue stripes on each edge.

MEDAL "ЗА БОЕВЫЕ ЗАСЛУГИ" ("FOR COMBAT SERVICE")

Medal "За боевые заслуги" ("For combat service") was established by the Edict of the Presidium of the Supreme Council of the USSR of 17 October 1938. The medal is made of silver in the form of a circle 31 mm in diameter. On the upper part of the face is the inscription "СССР" ("USSR"). Below, in the centre of the medal, is the inscription in three lines: "За боевые" the star shaped as gilt rays diverging from the centre are placed between smooth-faced points covered with blue enamel with gilt rims. On the smooth-faced points of the star are gilt upper and lower parts of two crossed rockets. In the central part of the order, on a wreath of oak leaves, is a gilt five-point star with white enamel rims, the inscription "За службу Родине в ВС СССР" ("For Service to the Homeland in the Armed Forces of the USSR") around the edge, and a hammer and sickle below. The distinction of the order of 2nd Degree is that the beaming star and the rims of the central medallion are silver; the order of 3rd Degree is not gilded. Krasnodon Regional Museum of the Order of Friendship of Peoples "Molodaya Gvardiya" ("The Young Guard").
